

Catholic Book Mart Opens Last Day At Calvert Hall

The book mart commemorating Catholic Book Week will open its second and final day at four o'clock this afternoon in the Calvert Hall Auditorium. The project is sponsored by the Maryland Unit of the Catholic Library Association. Admission is free to all students.

Miss Anne Finnau, chairman of the affair, explained that the "purpose of the mart is bring Catholic books and thought to the Baltimore public. It is possible that this may become an annual affair."

Rector To Speak

Highlights of the day's program will be an address at 8:00 p. m. by the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College. Father Talbot will speak on "Holy Reading Maketh The Whole Man."

Separate sections will be dedicated to philosophy, literature, biography, religion and history. On display in the biography section will be Father Talbot's Salut Among The Savages and Thomas Merton's Seven Storey Mountain.

Books Exhibited

Also to be exhibited are You Can Change The World, by the Rev. James J. Keller, M. M., and Peace of Soul, by the Right Rev. Fulton J. Sheen. The entire display is being arranged by the Newman Bookshop of Westminster, Maryland.

Dr. Frank Ayd, Jr., '42, psychiatrist at Perry Point Hospital, delivered an address last evening on "Catholic Reading and Mental Hygiene."

The Maryland Unit of the Catholic Library Association was formed last year. Previously it was part of the Washington unit, but the work became too heavy for the Washington group. Sister Mary David, of Notre Dame of Maryland, serves as president of the Maryland unit, and Miss Mary Rose, assistant librarian at Loyola, is secretary-treasurer.

Chapel Construction Ahead Of Schedule

Work on the new Memorial Chapel is proceeding ahead of schedule. The possibility of completing the first floor by April is excellent, barring bad weather for the next three weeks, according to Mr. A. D. Battista, stone contractor.

The Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola, has disclosed that although "the contract calls for completion of the entire building by September 1, they (the contractors) have had such fine weather and have been so fortunate in being able to secure the steel, stone, etc., that Mr. Rohde (manager of the Baltimore office of John McShain, Inc.) hopes to have the building erected by July 31."

Father Talbot also disclosed that $100,000 still remains to be raised before the chapel is entirely paid for.

A shortage of stone-cutters has somewhat hampered the construction work, but several will be brought from Washington, D. C. Steel beams were put in place two weeks ago.

Guidance Testing

Vocational tests are now being held by the placement office in order to determine the fields best suited for students after graduation.

Senior testing began on February 6 and will last until the latter part of March. After the results are tabulated, Mr. Henry Zerhusen, director of the Placement and Guidance Bureau, will review them with each man.

Several tests are given, including psychological, mental ability, aptitude, interests and personality. The average time required to complete the examinations is seven hours.

Flight-Intern Exams Planned

The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics has announced the opening of civil service examinations for the position of Aeronautical Research Intern.

Anyone who will complete full four-year course with a physics, chemistry or metallurgy major by June 30, 1950, is eligible to take the exam. Applicants must not be over 35 years of age unless they can qualify with veteran's preferences.

Those who are accepted will go to either Langley Aeronautical Laboratory, Ames Aeronautical Laboratory or Lewis Flight Propulsion Laboratory. Entrance salary is $3,100 per annum with periodical pay raises up to a maximum of $3,850.

Applications for the examinations must be in the files of the Langley Aeronautical Laboratory not later than February 28, 1950. Forms are now available in the Placement Office; they must be procured today in order to meet the deadline.

Juniors Select Next April 21 Prom Date

The Class of 1951 will hold its Junior Prom at the Country Club of Maryland on Friday, April 21, from 9:00 till 1:00. It was announced by Edwin Lemkuhler, president of the class. The dance, strictly formal, is open to the entire student body. Rivers Chambers and his orchestra will provide the music for the affair.

Tickets for the dance are priced at $5.00 per couple. Owing to fire regulations only one hundred twenty couples may attend the dance. One hundred reservations have already been made.

Use Easy-Pay Plan

A pay-as-you-go plan has been devised whereby a person may pay $1.00 down for a reservation and $1.00 every two weeks until the full price of the ticket is met.

No theme has as yet been decided upon for the dance, but other preparations are being made. Included in these is a plan for a formal pre-prom cocktail party from 6:00 to 9:00 that evening and also refreshments and free food (buffet style) to be served at the country club later in the evening.

Ooster Named Chairman

Thomas Ooster, vice-president of the class, is chairman of the Dance Committee, and William Kaevel is business manager. Other officers of the class are John Sehanberger, secretary, and Eugene Conroy, treasurer.

Plans for the Prom were initiated under the direction of last year's officers, all of whom except Ooster are incumbents.

Father Talbot To Attend Reception For Envoy

The Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College, will be a guest of Dr. Detlev Bronk, president of the Johns Hopkins University, on April 26. A reception is being held at Gilman Hall, on the Johns Hopkins University campus, for Sir Oliver Franks, the British Ambassador, and Lady Franks.

STEEL BEAMS RISE amid the partially completed walls of Our Lady's Chapel of Evergreen. Barring bad weather, the Chapel may be erected by early September, leaving only the inside work to be completed.

Noted Lecturer To Speak This Evening On Ireland

"Ireland," the fourth lecture in a series of nine, will be given in the parish hall of St. Ignatius Church tonight at 7:45 by the Rev. Richard M. McKeon, S. J., director of the School of Industrial Relations at LeMoyne College, Syracuse.

Sponsored by the Evening School, the talk is designed to acquaint those who plan to make a Holy Year pilgrimage with the countries they will visit.

Native Of Elmira

Father McKeon, a native of Elmira, New York, is a graduate of Canisius College. During World War I he served as a lieutenant in the infantry; several years after leaving the service he entered the Jesuit Order, being ordained at Woodstock College.

Father McKeon received his Ph.D. from Gregorau University, in Rome. Later he served as professor of English literature at Georgetown University and also at St. Peter's College, New Jersey. In 1935 he became dean of St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia.

Served As Chaplain

He served as dean of the University of Scranton in 1942, entering the Army as a chaplain the following year. After the war he was sent to Syracuse to conduct the new School of Industrial Relations and to help in the drive for funds for LeMoyne College.

Besides serving as moderator of Alpha Sigma Nu and editing a newspaper column, Father McKeon has found time to gain wide acclaim throughout New York and Canada as a lecturer. A student of Irish history and modern literature, he has made many extended visits to Ireland.

On the Friday following Father McKeon's lecture, the Rev. Thomas Whelan, director of the Maryland Action Guild, will speak on "Italian Shrines and Churches." Father Whelan formerly taught religion at Loyola, resigning last year because of other commitments.

Rev. Richard M. McKeon, S. J.

Material Lack Bars Quarterly

"We are disappointed by the lack of student response in submitting articles," stated John P. Hull, Associate Editor of the Evergreen Quarterly.

Because of a shortage of material, the next issue of the publication will be delayed until sometime in March, he disclosed. Meanwhile, contributions of essays, short stories and poetry are still being accepted. They may be deposited in the Quarterly office which has been moved to the room adjacent to classroom I-F.

All of the contributions submitted, whether they are accepted or not, will be returned to the authors along with criticisms and corrections by the editorial staff.

The forthcoming issue will feature the poetry of Clifford Near, a frequent contributor to the publication, the short stories of Martin Barnes and an unidentified lay faculty member.

John Scribner has recently been appointed Managing Editor of the Quarterly, filling the vacancy left by David McManus, who was graduated in January. William O'Connor and John Hull are Co-Associate Editors.

Late Flashes

Johns Hopkins pulled one of the most stunning upsets in local court history to defeat Loyola 79-73.

Behind 62-10 with 10 minutes remaining a desperate last ditch Loyola rally deadlocked the game at 73 all with a minute to go, but the Hounds could not stop the inspired Jays. Loyola had previously walloped Hopkins 72-21.

Poster Contest: George M. Strohecker was selected winner of the Loyola College poster contest. Strohecker's poster will be on display at the book mart being held at Calvert Hall.

Exemptions End As New Quarter Starts

There will be no exemptions from semester examinations in May, according to a recent bulletin posted by the office of the Dean.

This marks the end of a system, inaugurated in September, 1947, whereby students were not required to take the semester examinations in subjects in which they achieved semester averages of 90 or above.

As originally instituted, the exemption system allowed individual instructors to decide which students in the 90-or-above bracket would be exempted. It also provided that students had to make the minimum mark in both quarters of the semester.

In January, 1948, however, the system was modified, requiring only a 90 semester average and no approval by the instructor.

This ruling continued in force until September, 1949, when it was announced that to be exempted from the examination in any subject, a student would have to earn exemptions in all his subjects.

Early this school year the Student Council suggested this be modified to allow students making the Dean's list in both quarters to be exempted from subjects in which their averages were 90 or above.

Debaters Meet Mt. St. Mary's Here Tonight

The Bellarmine Debating Society meets a Mt. St. Mary's team in the Evergreen library tonight at 8:00. The topic will be "Resolved, That the United States should nationalize the basic nonagricultural industries."

Each school will enter two teams, one upholding the affirmative and the other, the negative. Affirmative speakers for Loyola will be Edward O. Clarke, Jr., and James H. Dietz. Evergreen's negative team will consist of Jason Brunk and Francis X. Trainor.

TKA Participation Foreseen

A contest with Johns Hopkins University is tentatively scheduled for Friday, March 3. The society has been invited to participate in the Tau Kappa Alpha debating tournament, in Kentucky at some time in the spring. Mr. James Porroli, moderator, has announced that four members will attend this event.

A number of Bellarmine members are expected to participate in the annual Hearst oratorical contest, the subject of which will be "James Madison."

Society Includes Fresh Group

Intramural debates continue to be held on Tuesday afternoons. Meetings are held at other times during the week, at which times the moderator and members plan and prepare for intercollegiate activity.

Clarke is president of the society. Bertram Morales is vice-president and in charge of scheduling matches. Other officers are Robert McDonald, secretary, and Daniel Downey, librarian.

The intramural program of the society provides training for new members as well as practice for more experienced debaters. This program has assimilated the George C. Jenkins Debating Society, which formerly was open to freshmen, according to Clarke.

FRESH OFFICERS relax after the long pull of their extended campaign and prepare for the responsibilities of office. They are James Garland, Donald Roach, Donald Lansing, William Manger and Neal Bathon.

Freshman Elections Succeed; Vice-Presidential Results Tied

After failing in two previous attempts to poll a majority vote as required by Student Council regulations, the Freshman succeeded in electing officers on Thursday, February 9. One hundred and fifty students out of two hundred and fifty in the class cast their ballots.

Loyola To Adopt New Commission Shortly

Loyola will petition for the commission of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine in the Baltimore area, according to Edward Pula, NFCCS delegate. The commission will be conducted on a divided basis between this city and Washington, because of the differing dioceses.

Intercity CCD activities will be conducted by correspondence. Thomas Volatile has started interracial justice activities on the campus by affiliating his committee with the Social Science Club. A joint panel will meet with Morgan College students in the near future.

Joseph Paszek will put a campaign to combat indecent literature into operation shortly.

The results were as follows: president, James Garland; co-vice-presidents, Donald Roach and William Manger; secretary, Donald Lansing; and treasurer, Neil Bathon.

Garland is a wrestling candidate and a graduate of Loyola High School. While there, he was president of his class and football captain. He polled 41 votes. Manger, who is a City alumnus, received 25, as did Roach. Bathon got 95, and Lansing, 54.

The Council-appointed committee on elections, consisting of Edwin Leimkubler and Edward Pula, worked for two weeks publicizing the nominations and election and were the official tabulators of the returns.

The candidates carried on a spirited campaign which did not closely follow the usual procedure, but was altered to fit the special case by the Council committee.

Inaugurated during this election was the displaying of candidates' pictures on a poster located on the bulletin board outside the Campus Shop. This project was also introduced by the Student Council election committee.

Notre Dame Drops Contract Match To Loyola Squad

The cause of suffrage suffered a setback, and Loyola's interneighbor athletic stocks regained some of their past losses, when the Loyola Bridge Club hosted the Notre Dame aggregate, with a score of 6550, on February 5.

Those wearing the Green and Grey in the tilt included Hans Wilhelm, Edwin Pula, Ferd Leimkubler, Walt Smyth, George Heras and Jacques Gunning.

A Loyolan sitting as dummy was heard to mutter, "Roll it up." This reportedly resulted in wringing the cry from the host team, "Just you wait until badminton season."

Elections, Emergencies, Cuts Face Council At Start Of Term

Elections, emergency communications and a decision to reinvestigate the possibility of amending the cut system were the topics filling the minutes of the Student Council during the past two meetings. The first full-length session after exams, that of February 9, was occupied almost exclusively with the reports of committees which had supervised club elections, and with writing for the results of the 1953 class election to be tabulated and announced.

'Greyhound' Staff Attends Conference

Dunbarton College of the Holy Cross, Washington, D. C., was host to the Eighth Annual Catholic Press Conference last Wednesday. Representatives of papers, yearbooks and literary publications of Baltimore and Washington colleges, high schools and parishes were present.

Loyola was represented by eight members of THE GREYHOUND staff. Several members of the Evergreen delegation acted as judges in the high school writing contest.

Dr. Regis Boyle, professor of Journalism at Catholic University and Eastern High School, Washington, was moderator of the college sessions. She was assisted by Sister M. Catherine Francis, C. S. C.

College discussions included a talk by Dr. John O'Connor, who spoke on editorial writing. Philip Love, feature editor of the Washington Evening Star, discussed feature writing; and James Flood, managing editor of the Catholic University Towers, spoke on the financing of a college newspaper.

IRC Will Meet Here, Hold Congress In NY

The International Relations Club will travel to City College of New York to represent Belgium in an April 10, 11 and 12 mock world government convocation. Also tentatively planned for April is the regional meeting of IRC, to be held at Loyola for approximately 50 delegates.

Joseph Alcarese will stand for the affirmative in a March 7 disputation on recognition and support of Tito's government against communism. Joseph Steffens will oppose him.

Alumni Doings

Thursday Night Habit Urged; Missing Persons Campaign On

by John J. Ingh '43

We are now approaching the end of the season for the Thursday Night Alumni gatherings at the Gym. We should be able, by studying the results of this year's efforts, to organize a more successful program for next year. The principle of such undertakings is hardly to be questioned, for the Alumni can only become an alive and capable group when its members have formed the habit of associating with one another. But this new habit cannot be formed until certain infringements and restrictions have been effected upon existing habits. This latter will be accomplished only after the new habit has been proved more desirable. While the statisticians are muttering to themselves and the philosophers are planning, let's congratulate and thank Charlie Mengher for his efforts this year.

There is a fairly constant percentage of the membership of the Association who undergo a change of address and, for reasons best known to themselves, "leave no sign." Awaiting proof, we do not yet believe that all of these men are either engaged in disputation with various law enforcement agencies or retiring to the life of the recluse or (oh, moan!) declaring a moratorium on accumulated debts. Consequently, we shall from time to time publish a list of such persons in the hope that some of their friends (or enemies) will telephone or mail the new addresses to Mr. Frank Sweeney at the Evening School Office.

'Thy Kingdom Come' To Be Presented March 22-24

The story of the Passion and Death of Jesus Christ will be unfolded by the Masque and Rapier Dramatic Society when the Loyola thespians present Thy Kingdom Come, an original passion play written by alumnus George Herman, at the Cadoa on March 22, 23 and 24.

The Criticlog

Until Hollywood can capture the realism and whimsy of most foreign films, we must be content to see such stilted photoplays as Prince of Foxes.

Two of J. Arthur Rank's masterpieces, The Red Shoes and Laurence Olivier's presentation of Hamlet, serve as notable examples of what England exhibits, whereas America seems content to worship box-office profits at the expense of good drama.

Plot Follows History

Though Orson Welles, as Cesare Borgia, and Felix Aylmer, as a kindly, understanding duke, take acting honors, Samuel Schellabarger's novel Prince of Foxes, becomes a somewhat feeble picture. The plot follows history rather closely and shows the unscrupulous means by which the 14th Century tyrant, Cesare, attempts to conquer all the various duchies of Italy.

The "Great Stone Face," Tyrone Power, makes an otherwise plausible role of a misguided emissary who reforms a farce. Wanda Hendrix's mummified features don't embellish the film either.

Music Lends Atmosphere

Acting with an admirable degree of restraint, Laurence Olivier does quite a splendid job in Shakespeare's Hamlet. The photography and music lend the proper atmosphere of ghostliness to the Bard's tale of treachery, procrastination and, finally, revenge.

Depicting the loves and woes of a European ballet troupe, The Red Shoes is, in a word, masterful. Anton Walbrook assumes the role of the company's dictatorial impresario. His philosophy of life is rudely shaken when he falls in love with a young, talented ballerina (Molra Shearer). How he continues to deny love as something debasing the artistic provides a profound study of life.

The ballet scenes, overall arrangement, and scenery make The Red Shoes truly a work of art.

Chess Clubmen Hold Elections

Thomas Junas was named president of the Chess Club in an election on February 8. The office was vacated by John Young, who was graduated in January. Also elected were James Liszewski, vice-president; Dennis A. Scully, secretary; and Joseph Steffens, treasurer.

Having resumed intraleague competition on February 17 against Johns Hopkins, the club will meet the University of Maryland this afternoon at the Maryland Chess Club. Contests are also scheduled with Baltimore City College on March 3, Baltimore Polytechnic Institute on March 10, and an unannounced engagement on March 17.

In addition to league competition, the club members are participating in the intracub tournament, which will last from February 6 until March 17. The tournament will be governed by the "Swiss" system of play, whereby winners meet winners and losers, losers.

Membership in the club has grown from seven to fourteen members since the beginning of the school-year. There is, however, a need for a larger freshman representation because of a present concentration of membership from the upper classes.

News In Brief

Miss Katherine Elizabeth Ellis, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Thomas Ellis, of Baltimore, became the bride of James Patrick O'Connor, '40, on February 11. Ushers at the wedding included Edward J. Lynch, Frank M. Love, and Lawrence P. Smith, all of the Class of '49.

Dr. and Mrs. A. Maynard Bacon, Jr., of Northwood, have announced the birth of their third son, Bruce John Hayward Bacon, born February 3, 1950. Dr. Bacon, '41, is practicing pediatrics in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Warner Cooper, of Baltimore, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nancy Jean Cooper, to William Barkley Fritz, '43. Mr. Fritz holds a master's degree from The Johns Hopkins University.

The engagement of Miss Betty J. Prince, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Prince, of Baltimore, to Mr. Philip H. Lorey, '49, was recently announced.

Miss Nancy McIntosh, of Baltimore, is engaged to marry Mr. Vernon C. Lemmon, '49. No wedding date has been announced.

Hats And Ties Of Loyola Men Require Categorical Analysis

Mark Twain is reported to have said there are three types of lies—herein arranged in climactic order—"lies, damned lies and statistics." In this brief but learned dissertation we shall concentrate on the last of these, under which falls the general section "categories."

Senior Sodality Has Apologetics Forum

Social apologetics will be part of the agenda of the regular Senior Sodality meetings in addition to program activities, Prefect Xavier Trainor announced last week.

The apologetics will consist of question-answer discussions on religious topics for the benefit of those Sodalityists who seek doctrinal clarification.

Tentative plans are being arranged for a similar forum in which members of the student body will participate.

Lectures Planned

Besides campus activities, the Sodalityists are preparing lectures on Catholic education which they will deliver to various parish organizations throughout the city. The talks will discuss the essence and methods of Catholic education.

In conjunction with the Junior Sodality, the members will present the annual Day of Reflection on Sunday, April 23. The event, which is open to the Sodality Union of Baltimore, will consist of services, lectures and spiritual reading.

The Sodalityists are also planning the public encouragement of the daily exhortation of conscience and the rosary. The rosary is being prayed daily in the school chapel at 10:30 a.m.

Party To Be Held

A private party will be held exclusively for the Senior Sodalityists sometime this semester. The affair is to break the monotony of the regular program activities.

Two Sodalityists, Harry Shock and Edward Martin, entered the seminary following their graduation in January.

Applications For Oversea Tours Are Almost Filled

Two overseas tours to Rome have been publicized on the Loyola campus during the past few weeks. All vacancies have been filled for the pilgrimage, sponsored by the National Federation of Catholic College students. However, applications are still being accepted for the Apostleship of Pray pilgrimage under the spiritual leadership of the League of the Sacred Heart. The tour, which will last from June 26 to August 2, costs $780.

Parking Problems

The parking problem has again arisen on the Evergreen campus. As construction of the chapel continues and student parking on the road leading in from Charles Street is prohibited, double parking on the dell lot has become the order of the day.

This inconsideration on the part of some Loyolans results in "hottling up" the cars of other students who have parked properly on the lot. This in turn can lead to serious inconvenience for the latter. For example, one day last week a student very nearly failed to answer a traffic-court summons, because he could not extricate his car.

The Student Council, cognizant of this situation, recently passed a resolution urging all students to "refrain from parking on the lot in any manner which might be inconsiderate or harmful to others." Common courtesy obliges us to abide thereby.

From the Library

Commencement Day at Loyola last July was very warm, and Mayor D'Alesandro's white suit was a cool contrast to the heavy academic robes worn by Senators O'Connor and Myers. "Sometimes I wonder about the value of education," His Honor quipped, "You fellows sweat for academic degrees, but I'm the most comfortable man on the platform."

Many of us would credit the Mayor with a true word spoken in jest; we're prone to utilitarian doubts. Is education unwise? Does culture pay? In this science-ridden age we're especially apt to question what out-fashioned liberal education is about and whether it's worth the effort. The student of classical literature would like, if he could, to step outside himself and observe what Plato and Cicero are actually doing to him.

The late Jaime Castillejo, S. J., wrote A Human Psychology of Education to help us do this. He focused a microscope on liberal education, still alive and squirming under attack, to examine how it works. He probes deep. What is thought? he asks, and imagination, habit, character, and personality? How are they formed? In what way and measure do the classics cultivate them? Why does the elective system fail? His thoughtful investigation of such problems will richly reward a thoughtful reader.

Lenten Devotions

The Student Counselors have provided ample opportunity for observing Lent in a manner befitting the Catholic college student. Mass is being said every morning in the student Chapel at 8:00 a. m., and confessions are being heard each day as usual. A list of the confessors and the times they are available in the Chapel is posted on the Chapel bulletin board.

But Lent means doing something out of the ordinary. To meet this need, the Sodality meets every day in the Chapel at 10:30 a. m. to recite the Rosary. Even students who have classes before and after this time can attend, since the Rosary is said during the ten-minute interval between classes. There's always time for a decade or two.

It seems imperative that Loyola men meet the demands of the times by earnest prayer. As the world situation worsens day by day, prayer becomes not only the most logical but the only means of recourse. Those of us who have failed in our duties in the past can easily see the need for meeting our obligations during this Lent. In the true spirit of prayer and penance which should be ours during the Holy Year, this Lent should be faithfully observed and made the most efficacious of our lives.

Vogeler Trial

Communist Hungary has added another to its list of courtroom infamies. Last Monday five defendants — including a priest, an American citizen, and a British subject — stood before the bar of "justice" in Budapest to receive sentences ranging from five years in prison to death.

As in the case of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, who was tried in the same court, all the defendants contritely admitted their "guilt." Like Cardinal Mindszenty, they had been held incommunicado for months, and all wore the same blank, lifeless expression during the trial.

The fifteen-year sentence imposed upon Robert A. Vogeler, American business representative in Hungary, and the thirteen-year sentence received by his British colleague, Edgar Sanders, are sufficient in themselves to arouse the righteous ire of all who hate injustice. The malice of the matter is not of personal injustice alone. The Vogeler trial is but a part of a well-calculated plan to discredit the Western democratic powers wherever possible.

It only serves to show how much ground we are losing in the "cold war."

Stan Kenton Returns From His Retirement

by Larry Davis

The music business is receiving a much needed "shot in the arm." At a time when most of the top-flight bands have folded or are on the verge of folding, Stan Kenton has decided to come out of his premature retirement. He will, however, offer no competition to the present struggling dance bands, since the orchestra he is now conducting is a concert orchestra.

Thus the music that is Kenton has progressed from the small bar-rooms where he made his early arrangements through dance palaces, hotels, theatres and occasional concerts to the present full-time concert status.

The new outfit is lorty strong, including sixteen strings, two french horns and a tuba. To provide this "petit orchestra" with fresh and original compositions, Stan has hired a group of ten arrangers, featuring such names as Neal Hefti, George Handy, Frank Marks, and Bob Graettinger, all of whom have established themselves in progressive arranging.

Although most of the Kenton side men have returned, except Kai Windling and Eddie Sefranski, your writer does not believe that the latter will stay away too long. Indicative of the salaries these men are receiving is the reported $1000 per week being paid to June Christy, which makes her the most highly paid band vocalist in the business.

With the publicity tag "Innovation of 1950," Stan has started to tour the country in a series of seventy concerts which will take about three months to complete. Future plans then include new music, a possible feature picture which Stan himself intends to produce, and the opening of a music school. The terrific pace this hoy is setting should be a revelation to musicians and medical doctors.

The truth of an old adage "A good big man is always better than a good little man" was painfully borne home to Evergreen fans on February 5 as La Salle College, eleventh-ranking nationally, beat Loyola in basketball for the second time this season. The good big man in this case was 6' 9" Larry Foust, and his play, especially off the backboards, was one of the main reasons the Explorers won.

In fact, over the past four years (eight games) of our series with the Quaker City five Foust has, generally, been the difference. The lanky senior's lifetime average against Greyhound teams hovers somewhere in the near vicinity of 19.3 points per game. Surely, if one were to pick an all-time all-Loyola-opponent squad his name is one that shouldn't be absent from it.

We're only kidding, of course, but with the rest of La Salle's roster reading something like this: Donnelly, Ganning, Gallagher, Haggerty, McCann, McMenamin, and Phelan, we couldn't even get lucky. Half the Irishmen in Philadelphia must have been on the team, even down to the manager. His name:—John Patrick Maguire. See what we mean?

It's interesting to note how strongly this year Catholic colleges and universities are making themselves felt on the national basketball scene. Numbered among the top teams are Holy Cross, Duquesne, St. John's, Villanova, and previously mentioned La Salle, not to include the strong upstate New York powers, Canisius, Niagara, Siena, St. Bonaventure, and others.

The success of the coming National Catholic Invitational Tourney, to be held at our Baltimore Coliseum in mid-March, will be in direct proportion to how many of the "First-Class" teams the tournament officials are able to lure into the fold. Certainly there are more top-quality Catholic teams this season than ever before.

While on the subject of tournaments, this year's post-schedule Mason-Dixon affair would seem to be of more than passing interest to local hardwood enthusiasts. Once again it is being held at Evergreen, and there's about as much sense this time in naming a pre-tourney favorite as there is in taking a lunch to night school. Last Saturday proved that. American U. is strong, and their zone defense, when it's working, is a pretty tough nut to crack. And last Saturday it was working.

Basketball On The National Scale

Coach Lefty Reitz has said that regardless of which team wins the M-D playoffs, Loyola will accept no bid to the NAIB tourney, held annually at Kansas City, and an event at which The Greyhounds have represented the Mason-Dixon conference for the past three years. Unfortunately, the date of this event conflicts with the NCIT, and as host team to the latter affair, Loyola would have to be around to participate in it.

The Passing Parade

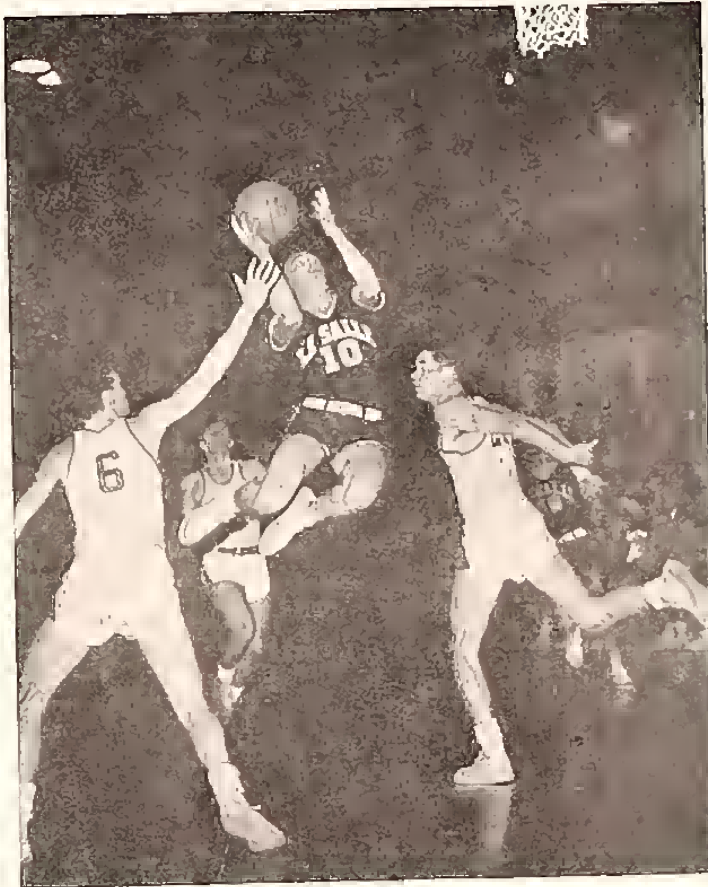

Sports are very important to the development of the well-rounded college student, and participation in them is conducive to success in later life. Take for example the case of Phil Lohrey, class of '49. Phil was a track luminary and heavyweight wrestler during his days at Evergreen. He has found that his sports background has opened up to him new avenues for personal achievement, new vistas of opportunity, new—aw stop it! Anyhow, Ed Contos, of the local Century Athletic Club, has offered Phil a place on his weekly wrestling program.

Contos plans as an attraction on his show, to match Lohrey with Bill Kerns, Western Maryland star, old school rivalry, or something. The pay is $150 a week, and the working days are every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. He would have to perform each evening about an hour, his work ending at commercial time.

Phil's mother, however, has a television set and after watching several of the performances put on by the "professionals" feels that her son would do better to stay in insurance. She never did care for show business. (This is not an advertisement, either for show business, or insurance.)

Mason-Dixon Tournament Information

Athletic Department Head Lefty Reitz would like to make known the following information concerning the forthcoming Mason-Dixon Tournament: games will begin on Thursday, at 6 p. m. There will be four games the first night, and two games on each of the succeeding nights. Contests will begin on Friday and Saturday at 8 p. m., student admission at all games being 85 cents a head, and general admission $1.25.

A FLYING LEAP by LaSalle's Jim Phelan is watched by Loyola's Vince Gallagher and Bob Anderson, in the basketball game between the two schools on February 5 at Evergreen. The Explorers won, 71 to 59.

LaSalle Beats Loyola, 71 - 59; Comerford, Foust Winning Stars

by Ed Ward

The La Salle Explorers took a commanding 9-to-0 lead at the outset of their basketball game with Loyola last Wednesday night a week ago and retained it throughout to register a 71-to-59 triumph over their Greyhound hosts.

Twice Loyola threatened this lead, in the first quarter when they pulled to within one point, 12 to 13, and again in the final stanza, when they trailed 53 to 57. But the La Salle one-two punch of Frank Comerford and the great 6' 9" center Larry Foust, who between themselves scored 40 points, was just too much for the Evergreen five.

Comerford scored 21 points, mostly on outside sets, to take scoring laurels for the tilt. He and Foust hit with uncanny accuracy throughout the game.

Bob Anderson, who broke the scoring ice for Loyola with a foul shot, was the big gun in the Green and Grey's offense, with 20 points. He was held down the first half, but broke loose during the final 15 minutes.

Loyola's last-half rally fell short as Foust began to hit, and together with the Explorers' freezing tactics, proved to be too much as the visitors registered a 71-to-59 win.

New Scoreboard

Loyola's athletic field, come spring, will have a new scoreboard, announces Lefty Reitz, through his construction engineer, Ed Leimkuhler.

"It's to be built out of the old Chapel signs which used to stand on the southwest side of the campus, and the chief difference is that where formerly 'Loyola' was placed above 'Visitors,' now the 'Visitors' are above 'Loyola.' "It may take months to build," says Ed, "but it will be the best in the neighborhood."

Catholic U. Wins On Mat

Catholic University's mat squad took a heartbreakingly close 18-to-16 meet from Loyola last Saturday afternoon, in the Greyhounds' season finale held at Evergreen. The Green and Grey was strong in the lighter weights, winning the 121, 136 and 146 lb. bouts, and in the heavyweight division.

Cartor Beese was the individual standout for Coach Phil Goodman's team. He pinned his opponent, Tony Peleroski, in 1:33 for his sixth victory of the season.

Roanoke Routed By Greyhounds

The Loyola College swimming team, paced again by fast-moving Jerry Rooney, decimated Roanoke College of Salem, Virginia, last Friday afternoon, 60 to 15.

The speedy Hound natators won easily, sweeping eight of the nine events. The Green and Grey dropped only the 140-yard breaststroke event when Gearhardt of Roanoke edged out Tom Maskell of Loyola.

Dick Lalley flashed top form as a diver when he took the spring board event from teammate Earl Schmidt and Roanoke's Bill Carlton.

The results:

300 Medley Relay—Won by Loyola (McCurmick, Lalley, Parsons). Time, 3:26.

220 Freestyle—Won by Bollinger, Loyola; second, Schindler, Roanoke; third, Muir, Loyola. Time 2:33.0.

40 Freestyle—Won by Rooney, Loyola; second, Thomas, Loyola; third, Auburn, Roanoke. Time 0:19.8.

150 Freestyle—Won by Lalley, Loyola; second, Schmidt, Loyola; third, Carlton, Roanoke. Points, 68.1.

100 Freestyle—Won by Cooney, Loyola; second, Leonard, Loyola; third, Wilson, Roanoke. Time, 58.2.

140 Backstroke—Won by Gearhardt, Roanoke; second, Maskell, Loyola; third, Baumberger, Loyola. Time, 1:44.9.

200 Breaststroke—Won by Klarner, Loyola; second, Mueller, Loyola; third, Carlton, Roanoke. Time, 2:35.1.

440 Freestyle—Won by McCarmick, Loyola; second, Schindler, Roanoke; third, Huff, Loyola. Time, 5:37.

400 Freestyle Relay—Won by Loyola (Robbitt, Ganning, Muir and Rooney). Time, 4:10.3.

Freshman Basketball

Loyola College's freshmen continued their winning ways as they added four more teams to their lengthy victory skeln.

Longwood Prep fell victim to the Frosh on February 9 by a score of 43 to 41 in a preliminary game at the Coliseum. The following night the Junior Hounds dumped Mt. St. Mary's in a Mason-Dixon Conference fray by a score of 72 to 43.

Mt. St. Joseph was next on February 13, as the Gals played the Freshmen on even terms throughout the contest, losing in the final quarter, 48 to 45. On Wednesday, February 15, they set a new court record, hitting the hundred mark against the Red Shield Boys Club. Nap Dolerty and Ed Kolniewski garnered 17 points apiece as the Hounds notched a 103-to-38 triumph.

At this writing, the Frosh have yet to meet St. Pauls, Hopkins and Cobo All-Stars.

Green And Grey In First Loss Of Current Conference Season

by Gene Conroy

Loyola's varsity basketball team went down to their first conference defeat of the season last Saturday evening when they howled to the Eagles of American University, 74 to 52, on the winners' home court.

Playing against a zone defense and on a small court, the Greyhounds were unable to hit their stride during the contest, and as a result fell well below their conference scoring average which is in the high sixties.

Four Hit Double Figures

Bob Anderson was once again top man for the Evergreen quintet as he accounted for 21 points on eight field goals and five charity tosses. Mel Baldwin garnered 11 tallies for the evening.

Sherwood Wehler with 22 and Leroy Ishman with 20 were the Washingtonians leading point-getters.

The College's attack was further hampered by the loss of Frank Barrett who suffered a broken nose in the early stages of the game.

Loyola Retains First Place

Despite the setback, the Loyolans managed to hang onto the top rung in the M-D loop by virtue of the fact that although each squad, Loyola and American U., have now lost a single contest, the Hounds have won ten games to the Eagles nine.

Loyola defeated the Capitol City five by a 50-to-41 score earlier in the year here at Evergreen.

Catholic U. Beaten Here

by Robert McKelvy

Loyola's league-leading Greyhounds slaved off a lost minute rally by an underrated Catholic University basketball team to annex their tenth straight Mason-Dixon victory, 75 to 67, on Monday, February 13, at Evergreen.

Throughout the play Loyola was never able to hold a comfortable lead over the determined Cardinal five, which had nearly upset American University a week before. After a deadlocked first ten minutes of play, the Hounds broke away in the scoring to maintain a nine-point edge at half-time.

The Catholic team, effectively employing a pressing style of defense, hampered the Loyola scoring machine and advanced within three points of the leaders in the remaining minutes of the game.

Pivotman Bob Anderson kept the Greyhounds in the running by collecting 35 points, consisting of 13 field goals and nine charity tosses. Bob's second-half scoring of 24 markers established a new record for "most per half" in the Evergreen gym. Jim Lacy established the mark at 20, in 1947.

'Mural Basketball Nears End; Hergie's Crumbs, Zethos On Top

by Clark Corcoran

As the intramural basketball league draws down to the wire, a look at the team standings shows Hergie's Little Crumbs, Borros Bulldogs, and The Zethos still holding on to first place in their respective divisions. Action has been limited in the last fortnight by class conflicts and forfeiture of games by squads which had already dropped a few games and considered further competition futile.

Whether the present "Big Three" can maintain their 1,000 averages is the $64 question but it is a sure thing that next week's intramural playoff will treat Evergreen cage enthusiasts with a steady diet of high-scoring basketball.

Five wins, no losses and an average of better than 50 points a game seem to make the Crumbs the favorite to cop the crown. From the upsets registered this year in the tough football league and the tennis singles tournament we have learned to take these pre-game notices with a grain of salt and wait 'til next week to see which of the division champs will come through.

Fifty hopefuls have signed up in the hookstore for this year's bowling tournament. Tentative plans call for an elimination method of play over a fifteen-game route.

Matmen Score First Victory

Loyola's hard-working wrestling team notched its first victory of the season on Saturday, February 11, mending Baltimore U's Bees, 22 to 6, on the losers' canvas.

The Greyhounds lost only two matches and won two of the others by falls, one coming by George Stevens, in the 165-pound class, and the other by Carter Beese, in the heavyweight division. It was the fifth straight victory for Beese this year, against no losses.

Bob Weiss, stellar 121-pounder, celebrated his return from the injured list with a convincing 8-to-2 triumph over Len Trout.

The summary:

121-lb. class: Weiss, Loyola, decisioned Trout, 8 to 2.
128-lb. class: Tostin, Baltimore U., decisioned McLaughlin, 6 to 0.
136-lb. class: Haupt, Loyola, decisioned Rhody, 7 to 0.

Hosts To Swarthmore

Four days later, March 1, the Hounds play host to Swarthmore College, whom they upset last year, 38 to 37. The Garnet is expected to be "up" for this meet, in an attempt to avenge themselves of that one-point defeat.

The tankmen then have a nine day rest before the preliminaries of the M-D tournament, since the scheduled March 4 meet with Hopkins has been cancelled. The Jays have formed a club team, and as they no longer are competing in loop activity, Loyola may not swim against them. This is a school policy.

Entire Squad Entered

Coach Fisher has announced that he is entering the entire swimming squad in the M-D tourney, which is to be held at American University.

Loyola is at present undefeated in the conference, and should rate a pre-tourney favorite. The Greyhounds won the event in 1949, shattering several pool records while doing it.

Loyola is also entered in the South Atlantic swimming tournament, which is going to be staged on Sunday, March 12. The Greyhounds hope to retire the trophy which is awarded the winner of the men's division, and stand an excellent chance of taking first place honors.

Mermen Take Third Fracas

Loyola's swimmers, winning eight out of the nine first places for the second time this season, defeated the Cardinals, of Catholic University, by a 61-to-14 count at Evergreen on February 11.

With the entire swimming squad taking place in the rout, Coach Fisher's charges had little trouble in scoring their third conference victory of the year. The tankmen are undefeated in league competition.

Jerry Rooney once again scored a double win as he swam home first in both the 50- and 100-yard freestyle races. Earl Schmidt also lived up to his reputation of being a constant winner as he captured top honors in the fancy diving event.

Summaries:

Cagers Primed For M-D Finale

by Ed Hagerty

Playing their final Mason-Dixon Conference game, the Loyola College cagers meet Washington College here at Evergreen on February 25. At present the fracas shapes up as one of the better Mason-Dixon games even though the Chester-town team's record for this year isn't too impressive.

The Sho' men are in fifth place of the league standings with a 7-and-3 record, but aided by Nick Scallion, who was league top point-notcher in '49 and also at present, the visitors can't be counted out.

Earlier this season the Hounds won on the foe's court by 80 to 70, paced by Captain Mike Zedalis' 26 tallies. Scallion, however, wasn't to be denied as he also swished the cords for 26 points.

Won Twice In '49

During the '48-49 season, the Green and Grey knocked over the Sho'men by counts of 85 to 63, and 56 to 53.

On March 2, 3, and 4, a rare treat is in store for the fans of Loyola and the followers of basketball in Baltimore. The Mason-Dixon Tournament playoffs, from which Loyola emerged triumphant last year, will be held on the Evergreen floor.

The tournament will be conducted on a one-game elimination plan, which will feature four games the first night and two games on the two succeeding nights.

St. Mary's Possible Contender

More than likely entries to the playoffs are Loyola, Hampden Sydney, American U., Bridgewater, Washington College, Roanoke, Towson Teachers, and possibly Mt. St. Mary's as the eighth contender.

Last season in the Mason-Dixon playoffs Loyola vanquished Roanoke, American U., and Hampden Sydney in their quest of the tournament diadem. Roanoke fell, 68 to 50; American U., 77 to 71; and Hampden Sydney, by the count of 70 to 69.

The latter was the sweetest victory of them all because Hampden Sydney annexed the Mason-Dixon Conference championship with a perfect 12-and-0 log although they failed to meet Loyola in league competition.

Swimmers Lose To N.C. State

Aquatic coach Jake Fisher's charges dropped their second meet of the season to their third non-conference opponent, North Carolina State, bowing to the southerners by a score of 40 to 35, in the Alumni gymnasium pool on Friday, February 10.

The contest wasn't decided until the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay, and the Greyhounds were only scant yards behind at the finish. However, it wasn't enough.

Green and Grey freshman Jerry Rooney continued his stellar form by winning both the 50- and 100-yard freestyle and in addition he held down the anchor-man post on the freestyle relay team. Bill Klarner, Bob Muth, Earl Schmidt, Bob Bollinger, and Andy McCormack also turned in excellent performances.

Spring Sports Turnout Large: 30 Trackmen Now On Hand; Stickmen Plan To Hold Initial Drills

Lacrosse

Loyola's lacrosse forces began their first formal practices for the 1950 campaign last Thursday afternoon. Stick mentor Bish Baker plans to have the freshmen out a full two weeks before the returning lettermen, and by the 1st of March everyone, both yearlings and veterans, will be engaging in workouts.

Wrestler Set For Tourney

On March 10 and 11 the Mason-Dixon wrestling tournament will get under way at the Johns Hopkins Gymnasium. Once again Hopkins will reign the top-heavy favorite at the annual grunt-and-growl classic.

The Blue Jays are favored to cop honors in five out of eight events. Brunswan, last year's champ, is favored to win the 121-pound division, with Weiss of Loyola as the principal contender. Cromwell, also a member of the Jay squad, looms as the choice in the 128-pound class.

The Homewood squad is also accorded the nod in the 145-pound slot, with Tighe, last year's champ; in the 155-pound class, with Smith, last season's 145-pound champ; and in the 165-pound division, with Leopod, as its chief hopes.

Burns, from Gallaudet College, is favored in the 136-pound class. He was runner-up to Tighe in the 1949 tournament. Hubert, from Catholic U., who will defend his crown in the 175-pound bracket, is seen as a probable contender.

Carler Beese, who last season wrestled in the 175's, is tabbed the boy to watch in the unlimited class.

the outcome of which will decide the makeup of the starting ten.

Baker is faced with a serious problem this spring in that he has lost the entire defense and midfield of his highly successful '49 squad, which ran up a record of six wins and three losses. "Six key men is a lot for any coach to replace," opines Baker, "but with a fine crop of freshmen, things don't look as foreboding as one might expect."

The Greyhounds' 'crosse savant plans to keep a squad of 32; the better part of them will probably be holdovers from last year and since he will be particularly strong close in, some of the experienced attackmen may be forced to ply their wares from a midfield position.

No equipment will be distributed until the first of this coming month, because the wrestling and swimming teams have depleted the athletic department supplies, and there isn't enough to go around to every man trying out for the team.

Track

Cinderpath Coach Billy McElroy last week sounded the lull call for candidates and was greeted on Thursday afternoon by the largest turnout he has had since being at Loyola. Over thirty aspirants were on hand.

McElroy said that they would not be able to begin regular practice until March 6, but for all prospects to work out on their own. The reason for the delay is that the basketball team will not be finished with the gym until sometime early next month.

The captain of this year's squad will be Walt Smyth, who was chosen to the position at the athletic banquet held last spring.

McElroy announced that about six dual meets, exclusive of the Mason-Dixon Tournament, have been scheduled for the season.

Mt. St. Mary's

Loyola College's basketball team gained its ninth conference victory at the expense of Mt. St. Mary's cagers by a score of 57 to 37, on Friday, February 10, here at Evergreen.

Bob Anderson with 19 points sparked the host five in the first half. However, Coach Reitz used the 6' 5" senior sparingly in the second stanza and he finished with a total of 23 markers to snare scoring honors for the evening.

Johns Hopkins

Loyola's basketball team ran up its most lopsided score of the season on Tuesday, February 7, as it swamped Johns Hopkins, by a score of 72 to 21, at Evergreen.

The entire Greyhound squad joined in the scoring in a game which saw the home team sweep to an almost incredible 42-to-7 halftime lead. In addition an alert Loyola defense played an important role in limiting the Jays to one field goal in the first 24 minutes of play.

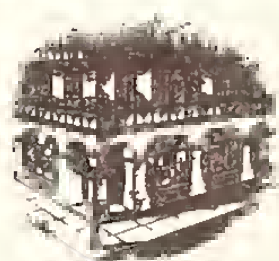

The scoring:

Bianco To Study Medicine After Graduation in July

(With this issue THE GREYHOUND will inaugurate a new series of articles the purpose of which is to acquaint the student body with outstanding campus leaders.)

"I hope to specialize in the field of psychiatry because I feel there is a definite need for Catholics in that branch of medicine." These are the words of Emidio Bianco as regards his future plans.

Meade, a pre-med senior at Loyola, plans to enter Georgetown Medical School next fall. At present he is president of the student body.

It will be six years, however, before he is able to begin his study of psychiatry, since he must spend a period of two years as an intern after completing his four-year course at Georgetown. He will then have the choice of becoming a general practitioner or specializing.

Meade entered Loyola in the fall of 1947, just after his marriage, to August, to the former Miss Mary Ann Lancelotta. Before his election last spring he was active in the Junior and Senior Sodalties and the Married Mens' Club.

Born Emidio Anthony Bianco on April 21, 1924, he attended Polytechnic receiving his diploma in 1924. He took a pre-engineering at Poly, and it was not until he entered the army the following year that he became interested in medicine.

He was a surgical technician with the 63rd Field Hospital Group in Germany for 18 months. After being discharged in 1945, he worked as a laborer for a while "to get back in shape." He was also employed in the first-aid department of Crown Cork & Seal just prior to his admission to Loyola, three years ago.

Historians Discuss President Wilson

The John Gilmory Shea History Academy met last night at the home of Dr. William D. Hoyl, moderator of the academy, to discuss "Woodrow Wilson: The Man and His Policy." A series of talks by members of the academy were followed by a round-table discussion.

The meeting of February 9 took place at the home of Oliver Krastell. The members of the academy analyzed A Discussion of the Tragic Era, by Claude Bowers. Dr. Harry Kirwin was a guest of the Academy at this meeting.

"Interest in the club has been excellent this year, particularly by members of the freshman class," says Dr. William D. Hoyl.

Cosmopolitan Club Elects Gene Corrigan President

Eugene P. Corrigan was appointed president of the Cosmopolitan Club at elections held two weeks ago. Jack Doyle was named secretary and Michael Zedalis was elected to the office of Treasurer.

Corrigan is a member of the Class of June, 1951. He was one of a group which organized the Cosmopolitan Club in December, 1948. He is also an NFCCS delegate and a page editor of THE GREYHOUND.

The Cosmopolitan Club was formed to "represent the unique needs of the out-of-town students before the Student Council and the student body and to promote a more fraternal feeling between the out-of-towners."

After the first ballot Corrigan was tied with Vincent Gallagher for the president's position. A second vote, however, broke the deadlock.

Corrigan is from Isle of Palms, South Carolina. Doyle is native of the Bronx and has played first base for the varsity baseball squad. Zedalis ranks in Loyola's athletic Hall of Fame as a result of his feats as an all-conference basketball player and as a catcher for the baseball team. He is currently captain of the basketball team and president of the Block "L" Club.

Major Bill Reynolds, Oregon '40 Pilot-Professor, U. S. Air Force!

Bill was an all-round athlete. He chose football as his favorite sport, made the varsity teams at Pomona Junior College and also at the University of Oregon.

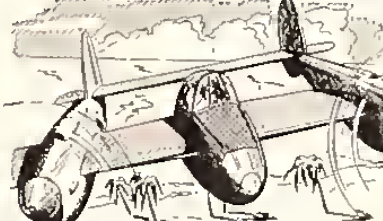

A Theta Chi, Bill enjoyed campus social life. Found that it eased the pressure of rugged athletics and his heavy study schedule in Personnel Management.

Upon graduation, Bill chose a future in the Air Force. He "flew" his first Link trainer as an Aviation Cadet in 1940. By March, 1941, he had won his pilot wings.

The 1st Observation Squadron, Fort Riley, Kansas was Lieutenant Reynolds' first assignment. While there he met the future Mrs. Reynolds. They married a year later and now have two fine sons.

The Squadron moved to Panama, then to the Pacific. Bill advanced from pilot to operations officer to squadron commander. He came home a Major and qualified for a Regular Commission.

Recently commended for peacetime work—organizing and improving instruction techniques—Major Reynolds, a "Pilot-Professor", looks forward to a long and gainful career in the U. S. Air Force.
